

Please do not weaken Indiana's telephone privacy law!

I didn't realize how disruptive the unwanted telephone calls had become until I registered on the no-call list.

My family now enjoys uninterrupted conversation during meals and can rest without being awakened by unwanted calls.

Before the no-call list, we had to disconnect the telephone so family members who were sick were not awakened when resting - that put us at risk of missing a true emergency call.

Please do not allow telephone solicitors, even those with whom we have a business relationship, invade our privacy again.
